REPORTS.

EDUCATION.

U. S. GRANT UNIVERSITY.

This Institution has had a very successful scholastic year. The entire enrollment during the past year has reached 587. The year book for that period shows six colleges or departments, embracing College of Liberal Arts, Medicine, Theology, Law, Technology, Music and Fine Arts, and a faculty of fifty-two teachers.

By an action of the Board of Trustees at the last annual meeting the College of Liberal Arts, Preparatory, Normal and Music, and Fine Arts, were located at Athens; and the professional Schools of Theology, Medicine, Law, with Preparatory and Normal Departments, were located at Chattanooga.

The School of Theology enrolled forty students in preparation for the Ministry. The College of Medicine, founded three years ago at Chattanooga, graduated a class last Spring of thirty-four out of an enrollment of 120. This College has become one of the strongest arms of the University. We recommend this growing College to the Members of this Conference, earnestly requesting their aid in enlarging its patronage.

The work at Athens has been carried forward with the usual success. The Ritter Industrial Home for young girls has justified the faith and wisdom of those who have inaugurated this work as a feature in our educational efforts in the Conference.

The Bennett Hall for young girls has also been successful and altogether in every department the same encouraging word might be written. The school has opened this year with a larger number of students than at any time in its past history, and this may also be said of the Academic and Normal departments at Chattanooga.

With these facts before us, your Committee would present the following Resolutions:

1. That we hereby express our heartfelt gratitude to Almighty God for the success which has attended the labors of our teachers in this important work.

2. That in harmony with the requirements of the Discipline, we shall do our utmost to fill the school of Theology with young men seeking admission to our Ministry.

3. That we greatly rejoice in the methods and splendid results of the same achieved by Dean Cobleigh and his associates of the Medical College, and heartily endorse his noble efforts to build such a school under the auspices of this University.

4. That the Presiding Bishop be requested to appoint the following brethren to positions in the Faculty of the U. S. Grant University: John F. Spence, President; R. J. Cooke and W. W. Hooper, Professors; and that Rev. George W. Coleman be appointed Conference visitor for the three years ensuing.

5. That the Trustees of the Grant Memorial University, elected at the last annual meeting of the Board of that University, be confirmed in their election and their names placed in the Minutes.

Our affiliated Academies afford a splendid opportunity for the education of the youth of the different portions of the Conferference, they being well located for convenience to all.

1. Powell Valley Seminary, Clinton District, Well Spring Circuit, is under the management of Prof. W. L. Stooksbury, a graduate of Grant University. This school is in prosperity. Present enrollment 186, with bright prospects for the future. We heartily commend this school to the Church and patronizing territory.

2. Kingsley Seminary has been under care of Prof. J. H. Ketron, A. M., its founder, since its organization in 1877. This school, situated in Greeneville District, near the Virginia line, is meeting the wants of many in that section, as is evidenced by its patronage. We heartily endorse this school, and request our people in that section to lend their aid in its further development.

3. Oakland Seminary is doing efficient work, well located, large school building, fifteen dormitories, and a beautiful campus all conspire to invite students to its advantages. We commend this school to its patronizing territory.

4. Parrottsville Seminary is located near the North Carolina line, and has a large patronizing territory. Prof. M. H. Monroe, a graduate of Grant University, is in charge of this school. This institution offers excellent facilities for the education of the surrounding country. We give this school our endorsement and urge its claims upon its patronizing territory.

5. Mountain City Academy is in its usual prosperity. If the people support this school with their children and their money, a still brighter future opens up for it. We commend this Institution to the friends of liberal education.

6. Sunbright Seminary, on the Cincinnati Southern Railroad, is under the care of W. R. Peters, a former student of Athens. Here we have good property, and it is to be hoped that this young Institution will prosper.

7. Greeneville Collegiate Institute is in its second year. Has had splendid success under the principalship of Rev. J. D. Droke, A. M. Situated as it is in the thriving town of Greeneville and surrounded by such advantages, it seems that a school of greatness should be the outcome. We give it our commendation.

8. Murphy College, at Sevierville, in the Knoxville District, is also a young Institution. Fine buildings have been erected here costing about $10,000. This school is well located. Patronizing territory large enough and strong enough to make this an educational stronghold. Rev. L. S. Fuller is principal of this school and an able corps of teachers are employed, working to achieve success. This school needs financial help just now, and a liberal patronage to secure its immediate success. We recommend this also to the surrounding country.

Resolved, that the Holston Conference in session, renew its pledge of faith to these schools, and that we promise our hearty support of the same by every possible Christian effort for the development of the several Academies within the bounds of the Holston Conference.

WHEREAS, This Conference maintained for years a successful school of Academic grade at Chucky City, Greene County, Tenn.; and,

WHEREAS, We have now at Greeneville, Tenn., a successful school of similar grade; and,

WHEREAS, The friends and patrons of these two schools desire to combine their interests and efforts in one school, at the first named place, to be known as the E. Q. Fuller Collegiate Institute; therefore,

Resolved, 1. That we approve their purpose in this regard and promise them our sympathy and co-operation.

2. That we approve the following named persons as Trustees of the proposed new school, viz: D. W. Remine, J. D. Droke, T. S. Walker, R. H. M. Donnelly, I. A. Fitzgerald, W. G. Burgner, Newton Hacker, W. M. Earnest, A. S. Johnson, J. B. Fitzgerald and Nicholas Earnest.

QUARTER CENTENNIAL.

WHEREAS, The present scholastic year is the Quarter Centennial of the existence of the U. S. Grant University; and,

WHEREAS, The marvelous success of this institution in training the thousands of boys and girls for leadership, during the last twenty-five years, demands more than a passing notice; Therefore,

Resolved, That the Holston Conference direct that the first Sabbath of April, 1893, or such other day as may be practicable, be, and is, hereby set apart as University Day in all the charges within the bounds of the Conference.

Resolved, That an address be delivered and suitable services be held, and a collection be taken for the benefit of the University.

Resolved, That President J. F. Spence, Dr. R. J. Cooke and Dr. T. C. Warner be an Executive Committee to prepare circulars and arrange a program for final celebration at next Commencement of said University, and superintend and carry forward such plans as may secure the greatest possible success to this Quarter Centennial movement.

Resolved, That a committee be appointed, consisting of the Presiding Elders and the following brethren: Revs. J. J. Manker, Geo. W. Coleman, T. S. Walker, J. H. Amis, J. S. Jones, M. H. Monroe, T. B. Russell, J. J. Robinette, T. R. West, J. W. Mann, M. C. Bruner, J. P. Morton.

Resolved, That this Conference memorialize the Blue Ridge,

Georgia, Alabama, Central Tennessee, St. John's River and Virginia Conferences to adopt similar action and to co-operate with this committee in the plans and purposes herein set forth.

And we further request that L. B. Caldwell be appointed to act under the direction of the Executive Committee as Secretary of the Quarter Centennial movement.

J. J. MANKER, Chairman.

R. J. COOKE, Secretary.

REPORT OF CHURCH EXTENSION.

Your committee submit the following:

WHEREAS, The Board of Church Extension of the Methodist Episcopal Church has given a helping hand to our struggling Conferences throughout the South, aiding in the erection of commodious houses of worship; and,

WHEREAS, The Holston Conference has shared liberally in these donations, thus furnishing, not only our cities and towns, but many of our rural districts with houses of worship; and,

WHEREAS, There are yet many struggling societies within our territory without suitable places of worship which, with a small donation, would be able to build; and,

WHEREAS, The tide of emigration within the bounds of the Conference creates an increasing demand for houses of worship. Therefore,

Resolved, That, as a Conference, we will show our appreciation of this timely aid by commending it to the enlarged liberality of our people.

Resolved, That in order to do this we will, in our several charges avail ourselves of the helps provided by the Board, and preach or cause to be preached a sermon on this subject, and faithfully present the claims to each of our congregations, endeavoring to raise the amount asked.

Your Committee, appointed to audit the accounts of the Presiding Elders, beg leave to report that they have examined the same and find them correct.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON EPWORTH LEAGUE.

We hail with gratitude the coming of the Epworth League, believing it to be one of the providential organizations of this century, and destined to accomplish marvelous results for the Church.

The General Conference has made it one of the connectional Societies of our Church, and also made it "the duty of the pastor to organize, if possible, and to maintain, if practicable, chapters of the Epworth League."

We most heartily endorse this action, and will do all in our power to carry out this recommendation.

We will do all we can to advance the Conference and District Leagues, believing them to be necessary to the success of general League interests.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL UNION.

The Committee on Sunday-school Union and Tracts submit the following:

In as much as the work done by these societies during the past year has been efficient and marvelous, and the work yet to be accomplished by them is of great magnitude,

Resolved 1st, That the board of general managers ask of the Holston Conference for these societies a certain amount to aid them more fully in the prosecution of their work;

Resolved 2d, That the Presiding Elders be requested to apportion the amounts to the several Districts, and that each Presiding Elder out of the amount apportioned to his District, distribute to the several charges, as may in his judgment seem best.

Resolved 3d, That each Pastor make a special effort to raise the full amount assessed his charge.

TEMPERANCE.

We recommend all members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, who enjoy the elective franchise, to so use that solemn trust as to promote the rescue of our country from the guilt and dishonor which have been brought upon it by criminal complicity with the liquor traffic.

We do not presume to dictate the political conduct of our people, but we do record our deliberate judgment that no political party has a right to expect, nor ought it to receive, the support of Christian men so long as it stands committed to the license policy or refuses to put itself on record in an attitude of open hostility to the saloon.

Resolved, That this report shall not be construed as an indorsement of any political party.—General Conference Journal, 1892, page 492.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON LOCAL PAPER.

Your Committee appointed at the last session of the Holston Conference [see Minutes, page 31] on the establishing of a Church paper, submit the following report:

Immediately after the decease of the Methodist Advocate, the Chairman called the Committee to meet in the city of Knoxville, and after careful deliberation it was decided to establish the Methodist Journal. Rev. R. J. Cooke, D. D., was chosen editor and Rev. J. J. Robinette, D. D., and Rev. T. B. Russell, A. M., assistant editors. A company of gentlemen in the city of Chattanooga accepted the recommendation of the Committee, furnished the necessary funds and the Methodist Journal was launched.

About this time the Methodist Advocate, new series, began to push its way to the front, and we had two papers struggling for the patronage of our people.

A few months ago, the parties concerned, buried their differences, consolidated their interests and the Methodist Advocate and the Methodist Journal became one, with Rev. Dr. R. J. Cooke and Rev. H. C. Northrup editors, and Revs. Coleman, Mann, Robinette and Russell associate editors. Respectfully,

J. F. Spence, Chairman.

Whereas, The Methodist Journal and Methodist Advocate, both published in Chattanooga and both seeking patronage from the same territory, have combined their interests and consolidated the capital stock under the firm name of the Methodist Advocate-Journal, thereby harmonizing all the elements directly interested. Therefore,

Resolved, That we, as a Conference, do heartily congratulate all parties concerned and do pray the blessing of the Divine Father upon the union; and trust that out of it may come harmony and blessing to our work within the bounds of the Holston Conference.

CHURCH LITERATURE.

It is a fact, beyond dispute, that, without the assistance of the religious press of the country, the cause of Christianity would in our day be seriously hindered. To enumerate the well nigh innumerable advantages derived from this source to the interests of the Church of God is certainly with Methodists not necessary, even were it possible. Therefore we can but repeat the constant exhortation made to our people to loyally sustain the official papers of our Church and this we do because we know that the success of the various interests of our Church within the bounds of the Holston Conference are largely dependent upon the success of the Church papers and other religious helps circulated among us.

Your Committee would present the following resolution as expressing the sense of this Conference:

WHEREAS, The Book Concern of the Methodist Episcopal Church publishes all needful literature and of the very best quality and style; and,

WHEREAS, The profits of the Book Concern are divided among the worn out preachers and widows of deceased preachers; and,

WHEREAS, The dividend to this Conference alone this year amounts to $898; Therefore,

Resolved, That we will patronize only our own Book Concern in the purchase of such religious literature as may be needed in prosecuting the work of the Church in any department, and that we earnestly exhort all our preachers to call the attention of the laity to the books and periodicals published by the Church and urge that every family of the Church take at least one of our Church papers.

MEMOIRS.

Rev. Wm. D. Smith was born in Floyd County, Virginia, January 28th, 1832, and died at his home in Bradley County, Tennessee, the 4th day of July, 1892, in the 61st year of his age.

He professed religion in the fall of 1849. In 1850 he united with the Church. Was licensed to exhort March 16th, 1852. Was licensed to preach January 13th, 1855. Ordained Deacon in Athens, Tenn., by Bishop Early, October 19th, 1862. Ordained Elder by Bishop D. W. Clark, in 1866, at Greeneville, Tenn. In February, 1864, he withdrew from the M. E. Church South, and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, and was employed to travel the Benton Circuit.

At the close of the war, he went into North Georgia, and wherever it was practicable organized Churches, under the old Methodist banner.

When the Georgia Conference was organized, he became one of its members, traveling different charges in North and Middle Georgia until his health failed and he found it necessary to desist from the work, and return to his Tennessee home; by the end of that year his health had so far improved that he felt able for effective work, and was transferred to Holston Conference, in which he labored faithfully, until the close of 1875, when he was granted a supernumerary relation. Six or seven years ago he was again put on the effective list, since which time he has labored faithfully on different charges, with much acceptability and usefulness, doing hard work on obscure charges, with but little pay, but he did not complain; went cheerfully to whatever work was given him; wherever duty called, there you found him, nobly battling for the right; he was deeply pious, loved the Church, loved its toil, and his brethren, never speaking disparagingly of them, loved his family, and provided for them, as best he could, out of the little paid him by the Church; but above all, he loved his God supremely. Educationally he was self-made, all of his school days fell short of a year, but he thirsted for learning, reaching out every way for useful knowledge; he was a great reader and close student all his life, and so became well educated; he remembered well, and was "well posted in the history and law of the Church;" he was sound in Bible doctrine, and thus equipped he was prepared to stand every test.

"As a preacher he was above ordinary," not what you would call an orator, but a good reasoner; he investigated closely and gave evidence of much prayerful thought, and he set his hearers to thinking. His sermons were clear and convincing in style; logical in arrangement, and in delivery earnest and impressive; was well posted in the Scriptures, and his sermons abounded with quotations therefrom. When Brother Smith buried his wife, with whom he had lived so happily for so many years, as he withdrew from her grave, he said: "Farewell, for a little while, I shall soon follow," and in less than one year, he was called to join his loved companion in the city and home of light and rest. Last April, his health failing, he went to his home to linger, suffer and die.

He desired to live, only that he might do more work for the Master, but would say, "If I don't get well, it is all right." The end came 4th of July last, but did not take him by surprise; he was waiting and watching, fully ready, and in the triumph which faith in Christ alone can give, he passed away.

W. C. Daily, Chairman.

MRS. ELIZA J. GREEAR.

BY S. TINKER.

Eliza J. Greer, whose maiden name was Galbraith, was born in Anderson County, Tennessee, on the 27th day of December, 1840. And on the 18th day of June, 1892, sweetly, joyously, to her, the light of this world went out, and the undimmed vision of the celestial city, burst in resplendent glory upon her enraptured vision in the palace of the King, where there is no night, where the Lamb is the light of the City. On the 19th day of August, 1867, she entered upon a delightful experience of sins forgiven through faith in Jesus, and a clear, unmistakable, rapturous consciousness of her acceptance with God.

She at once gave her hand and heart, her life and energies to the Church of her choice. She became the wife of Rev. Samuel Greear, of this Conference, June 4th, 1872. Beside the usual burdens and responsibilities of the wife, there were added the delicate, difficult duties of step-mother. In this most solemn and trying relation, she proved herself complete, sufficient and eminently successful. Patient, solicitous, anxious, loving, cheerful, she bound herself to the children as dear as their own mother, and the children to her as tenderly as her own.

For twenty years (lacking a few days) she journeyed the rugged, roseate path of a Methodist preacher's wife, contributing most diligently to the joys and successes, and sharing most submissively the sorrows, toils and heartaches of her now bereaved husband.

If there is one place in this world where the wife has imposed upon her a heavier tax, upon heart and head, where it requires more womanly qualities, more of the graces of the spirit, it is the place the wife of a Methodist preacher is called to fill; and to measure up to the full responsibilities, as did our now sainted sister, exhibits a Christian womanhood, the richest legacy ever bequeathed to this world. For many years she was a great sufferer. For two years, previous to her death, she endured the most intense and excruciating affliction. But her experience deepened with her suffering; Divine Grace abounded, and she gloriously triumphed. When the time came when she brushed the dews on Jordan's banks and knew the crossing must be near, there came down upon her a halo of light and power, glory and love that made her almost oblivious to her pain, lifting her up to the Nebo heights, where with unclouded vision she beheld the land

"Where saints, robed in white,
Cleansed in life's flowing fountain,
Shining beauteous and bright,
They inhabit the mountain
Where no sin or dismay,
Neither trouble nor sorrow,
Will be felt for a day
Or be feared for the morrow."

And just before she entered the last conflict with the king of terrors, the radiant glory of the cross enveloped her dying couch and she experienced such a degree of the presence and power of Jesus as to enable her to sing:

"His word has calmed the ocean,
His lamp has cheered the gloomy vale,
And Jesus now goes with me,
While through the gate of death I sail."

Shall we say the Church has suffered loss? No. True, the voice is hushed, the hands no longer minister to us here, the feet no longer tread the path of toil and helpfulness by our side, but the aroma of such a life will live forever; it will permeate every avenue of Church work and life, and percolate through every fiber, reproducing and multiplying itself, until the earth is redeemed. And its blessed fruits, ripe and golden, will be gathered in that land that is beyond the stars.

MRS. CATHERINE B. OGLE

Was born June 14, 1862, and died May 22, 1892. January 7, 1886, she was united in marriage with Rev. H. B. Ogle, of Holston Conference. To these parents were born two sons. This lamented sister professed faith in Christ and joined the Baptist Church when a tender girl of eighteen. In the year 1887, soon after marriage, she entered the fellowship of the Methodist Episcopal Church, in which communion she lived until life's sun went down. In the relation of the family as wife and mother, Sister Ogle was a good example. With her Church-fellowship meant something more than a name. Feeling it a duty to give diligent attendance upon all the appointed means of grace, she was most faithful in Church-going. Rarely was her seat vacant in the sanctuary, and never unless circumstances marked duty's path elsewhere. Less than a year since, the writer, with others, held a series of meetings near her home, and while being kindly urged to save her rapidly failing strength, yet so precious were the meetings, and feeling that the happy privilege would soon end, and moreover having a zeal for the Master's cause, she could be seen in her place in service almost every day. Truly she was faithful. About four years since her husband joined the Conference, and since then cheerfully and heroically she has borne the privations and sacrifices incident to her position, privations and sacrifices known only to God and those who endure them. In this feature Sister Ogle was a conspicuous example. The writer knew her well, being often entertained in her home, and in the darkest financial ordeal she was cheerful and resigned. The fatal illness was of long duration, but through all she was happily sustained by the grace of the loving Christ to whom she had vowed allegiance in the morning and bloom of life. A few weeks before her death she said to the physician, when he called, having the Bible in her hand at the time, "I was just reading about the place I am going to soon. 'Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his saints.'"

Three things afforded comfort when the last sad change came.

The grace of God, accepted in early life, sustained grandly at last. Not a fear or doubt seemed to disturb.

Again, she had done her part nobly in directing her children. Before them her example of beautiful Christian patience lives. The day before death she said to the weeping husband, speaking of the babe, "train him right and bring him to Heaven."

Last. Earthly friends did all in their power to make the months of suffering as comfortable as possible. Never were husband and friends more devoted and faithful in attention than in the case of this dear sister. When the end came it found her fully ready; yea waiting to enter the summer land of song.

May the blessed, loving Christ sustain the husband and tender orphan children in this great subduing sorrow, and at last bring all to a happy, eternal reunion in Heaven.

REV. WILLIAM HURD ROGERS.

One of the veterans and representatives of stalwart Methodism in the South passed quietly and peacefully to rest last Tuesday evening, the 17th inst., at 9 o'clock. Father Rogers was born in White county, Tenn., March 22, 1813; was converted at the early age of thirteen years, and entered the Methodist ministry as a traveling preacher when nineteen years old, thus serving the Church faithfully as member sixty-five years, and as an efficient minister of the gospel fifty-nine years, answering to roll call at the opening session of every Conference during his long eventful ministry except at the session held at Wytheville, Va., 1863.

In 1848 he was appointed chaplain of the Fifth Regiment of Tennessee Volunteers in the war with Mexico. In 1850 he was elected delegate to General Conference M. E. Church South, held in St. Louis, Mo. On the 17th of August, 1850, he was married to Miss Mary A. Douthit, of Monroe county, Tenn., who shared with him the conflicts and victories of his early ministry. Rev. Samuel Douthit, her father, was identified with the Methodist Episcopal Church in its infancy in North Carolina, frequently entertaining in his primitive home the venerable Bishop Asbury.

It was essentially important, however, that the wife of the itinerant minister in these early times be built with an iron constitution to stand the trials and labors incident to the calling, and as the storm-cloud of war was gathering over our country, she was laid to rest. There were three children by this marriage, Bascom, Adria and Leon, all of whom are living.

On August 19, 1862, he was married to Miss Martha E. Luttrell, of Knox county, Tenn., his present bereaved widow. By this marriage there were eight children, Albion, Luther, John, Charley, Lula, Bruce, Mattie and Emory, three of whom died in their infancy, John, Lula and Mattie. During the war he was taken prisoner by the Confederates, and with thousands of other innocent and honorable citizens shared the misery of the prison-pens of Tuscaloosa, Mobile, Montgomery and Macon.

Uncle Hurd, as he was familiarly called by his intimate friends, was a self-made man. In his boyhood days the country was sparsely settled and opportunities for intellectual culture were scarce, but he was determined upon an education and succeeded. For three months only he had the advantage of school, such as the neighborhood afforded in those early days.

Raised upon a farm, with limited means, yet he hungered and thirsted for knowledge, and fired with youthful ambition and unconquerable determination, he used every means in his power to accomplish his lofty purpose. To this end he would walk any reasonable distance to borrow books, and when his day's work on the farm was ended he would gather pine knots and pieces of rails and carry them home and study while others were resting their tired limbs in repose and sleep. When he entered the itinerant ministry he studied upon horseback and recited for a time to Dr. Mathews, who was for years in charge of Holston Seminary at New Market.

And thus, by close application to books, hard study, together with strict, systematic discipline, rigidly applied, he became one of the most reliable historians and thoroughly finished practical scholars in all this country. His well furnished and disciplined mind prepared him, together with his unfaltering devotion to the cause of education, for the active and efficient aid he rendered the institutions of learning in different parts of the country. He was at different times the financial agent of Martha Washington College, Emory and Henry, Holston Seminary, Strawberry

Plains College, and Athens College, while under the presidency of Dr. E. Rowley, and afterwards for the Grant Memorial University. No man, perhaps, in the State of Tennessee did more for the encouragement of education, or succeeded better in influencing more young men and young women to enter the halls of learning than did our venerable brother. He was a Bible student, having read the Old Testament Scriptures through consecutively about 175 times and the New Testament about 275 times. Since he gave his heart to God he never, as he testified, missed but two days during which he did not read some portion of God's word.

While in Confederate prisons he was forbidden by the Provost Marshal to read the Bible and hold prayers with the prisoners, but in defiance of these orders and threats he continued to read the Bible and hold religious services in these prisons.

His first appointment was Buncombe Circuit, North Carolina, covering all of three counties at least, requiring several hundred miles travel to make the round. He seldom missed an appointment, although there were but few public roads, no bridges, and settlements many miles apart. Often the only guide through the forest was his compass.

The salary in those early days amounted to a mere pittance, often not more than fifty dollars for a year's service, yet he went through heat and cold, rain and snow, over mountains and through forests and swamps, often compelled to swim swollen streams that he might have the satisfaction of leading perishing souls into the fold of Christ.

His attachment for children was wonderful. Everywhere he went he carried tracts for the children; would gather them around him in the homes where he was entertained, read and talked to them until they would climb upon his knees and drink in the words of life told in the simple, childish story by the man of God.

He was a great patron of the Sunday-school, and after he retired from the active work of the ministry, about three years since, his time was occupied in building up the Sunday-schools of the country and circulating the Word of God.

This brief sketch would be imperfect if we neglected to speak of the fervent missionary spirit and active work performed by our lamented father. In the early part of his ministry he was appointed missionary among the Cherokees and Choctaw Indians, embracing parts of Georgia, Alabama, North Carolina and Tennessee. In this mission-work he was among the first ministers to preach in what is now the city of Chattanooga, and he visited Cleveland when the citizens were erecting their first court house, a small log building.

In studying the names of the founders of Methodism, he early learned to economize time by having systematic methods of accomplishing his work, and so strictly did he adhere to his well arranged plans that they were carried out punctually and promptly the last day of his earthly life.

Nothing had been neglected, nothing was out of place; procrastination had not postponed to his last hour a multitude of things that must be attended to in a great hurry or be unfinished, but the last day only required its own fulfillment, and all was orderly, quiet and peaceful.

He walked out in the yard in the early part of the afternoon, ate his supper about dusk, had his watch taken from its accustomed place and wound, called for the reading of the fourth chapter of St. John, and while his brother, A. H. Rogers, led in prayer, joined heartily in the service, responding to the earnest prayer of his brother with a hearty amen. He then talked cheerfully and hopefully to his weeping family and friends about his departure, assuring them that religion was worth everything to him and that he should soon meet with dear ones who had gone on before. Finally he said, "They are coming! They are coming!" and in a few moments passed beyond the vale.

Missions of the Holston Conference.

By Rev. Thomas B. Russell, A. M.

Published by request of the Conference.

In the subsequent table, showing the present status of the missions of the Holston Conference, the number of years each mission has received aid from the Missionary Society is approximately given. The official reports, showing the arrangement of the missions and the distribution of funds for 1867–'68–'69–'76 and '77 are not in my possession, hence these years are not included in the figures of the ninth column found below; but in several instances they may be added with unquestionable correctness. This is especially true of the older missions. With a few exceptions the table shows how long each mission has existed under the name given. Not in every case, however, has the continuance been consecutive. The Districts were all on the list of missions up to the Conference of 1889, held by Bishop Joyce; then they were discontinued as missions and they remain so, save the Athens District, which was reinstated as a mission at the session of this Conference in 1891.

The charges that now appear as self-sustaining are not given in this table. They may have an independent showing, in a similar way, at another time.
